

Provide the information requested below, as it pertains to your selected language.
Each question should be answered with a short sentence or two, with an accompanying example or examples below it in proper linguistic format (with glosses and translations).
If the construction does not exist in your language, see if this is handled differently (e.g., a language might not have adjectives but adjectival verbs).
If the language presents more than one possible answer, explain any differences.

Your name:

Language:

Noun Phrases

1. Is there a definite article?
2. Is there an indefinite article?
3. Are determiners typically initial or final?

Adjective Phrases

4. Do attributive adjectives precede or follow the nouns they modify?

Prepositional Phrases

5. Do NPs precede or follow the transitive preposition?

Sentence Order

6. What is the relative order of Subjects, Verbs, and Objects?

Pronouns

7. Present the paradigm for the subject pronouns.
8. How do subject pronouns manifest (affixes and/or separate lexemes)?